

ELECTIVES in Hand Surgery

February 5-6, 2010
Intercontinental New Orleans Hotel
New Orleans, Louisiana

Program Chair:
Martin I. Boyer, MD, FRCS(C), St. Louis, MO

Program Co-Chair:
Randip R. Bindra, MD, FRCS Maywood, IL

Therapist Consultants:
Rachel M. Pigott OTR/L, CHT, Bel Air, MD
Mojca C. Herman, MA, OTR, CHT, Torrance, CA

Overview

This course will highlight the fundamental anatomical knowledge with which both therapists and surgeons alike should be familiar. Additionally, topics which are infrequently seen in educational forums but are clinically common, including congenital anomalies, non-microvascular soft tissue coverage of the hand, ulnar sided wrist pain and innovations in hand surgery will be covered during this program by experts in their respective fields.

The program will offer concurrent programming on Friday and Saturday morning giving attendees the choice of which topic best meets their needs. Afternoon sessions will bring the entire group together for a general session on a broad topic of interest. Additionally, attendees can sign up for one of the Industry Sponsored Product Demonstration Workshops to help supplement their experience.

Objectives

Upon completion of this course, the participant will be able to:

- Demonstrate mastery in the anatomical knowledge of common conditions of the hand and wrist.
- Demonstrate mastery in the anatomical knowledge of common conditions of the elbow and shoulder.
- Classify and discuss the more frequently encountered congenital abnormalities of the hand and upper extremity.
- Conceptualize non-microsurgical options available for the coverage of wounds of the hand and upper extremity.
- Demonstrate an ability to diagnose and initiate treatment for ulnar sided wrist pain.
- Identify new innovations in hand surgery and/or upper extremity rehabilitation that will be of direct relevance over the next 10 years of practice.

ASSH Continuing Medical Education Credit

The ASSH designates this educational activity for a maximum of 16.00 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

ASHT Continuing Education Credit

The ASHT designates the Electives in Hand Surgery course for 16.00 contact hours of continuing education.
